There will doubtless be an interest aside from the gas contract connected with the proposed investigation of the insinuations and charges of the News concerning the Council's action in that matter. "I am determined," said Councilman Swain, "to have the News's course in regard to the water investigation brought to the public. I have the proof to show that that paper has been inconsistent, if no worse, in up-holding the company. We have borne the at-tacks of the News patiently and now prepose to make it clear to the public that it has willfully and maliciously slandered Councilmen merely ecause they would not obey its behests." When the committee is ready the investigation will be spen to the public. It is proposed to hold nightly meetings until all the evidence that is obtainable is placed on record.

Sickness Among Children.

There has been a great increase in the death list among infants during the past week. Out of thirty-nine deaths reported to the City Board of Health since last Friday, twenty-six have been children under four years of age, and twenty-one out of the twenty-six were under two. Various causes are assigned, including cholers infantum, diphtheria, and like complaints. Attention is also being directed to the open gas trenches as a source of disease.

AS THE CAMPAIGN APPEARS

First Ward Republicans Have a Large Meeting and Three Good Speeches.

Democrats Violate the Postal Laws by Sending Documents Out at Second-Class Rates and Abusing the Franking Privilege.

The First ward Republicans held a rally last night that was attended by between 800 and 1,000 people, as the number was variously estimated. They gathered around the stand that had been erected on the corner of Home and Columbia avenues. Seats had been prepared for many, but the demand far exceeded the aupply and hundreds were compelled to stand up. William Morris, the president of the local Harrison and Morton club of that ward, presided over the meeting, and introduced, as a beginning of the programme, the Nightingale Quartette, composed of colored men, whose campaign songs were admirably received and loudly applauded throughout the evening. Although the committee having in charge the securing of able speakers had failed in procuring some men upon whom they had relied, there were a number of able orators upon the platform, and the entire evening was devoted to the discussion of important issues. Albert G. Thayer, who for years has been a supporter of Democracy, was the first one introduced. He confined his remarks almost entirely to the prostitution of the benevolent institutions to political purposes under Democratic rule. It has been clearly proved to the public of Indiana, he said, that the inmates of the insane Hospital have been fed diseased meats and vegetables, and that they have been forced into submission by the attendants by means of pieces of raw-hide and other instruments of torture. That element in the Democratic party to-day that is resposible for these infamous crimes is holding the power and depouncing Harrison as a cold-blooded monster and the enemy of the poor. Mr. Thayer did not occupy many minutes in speaking, but he was vigorously applauded at times.

W. H. H. Miller, General Harrison's law-

partner, was next called out. The object of a Republican meeting, be stated, was to exchange thoughts and ideas pertaining to that party's doctrines. It is the best way in which political faith can be confirmed. It would be a good thing if Democrats would attend Republican meetings, for then they would hear the solemn truth.

The Insane Hospital question was touched upon to a considerable extent. He asserted that Gov.

Gray had declared that Thomas Harrison, of Boone county, and Phil.

Gapen, of this city, are not fit men to hold the positions of trustee in that institution. "But Governor Gray has not the power to oust them," the speaker continued. "What to oust them," the speaker continued. "What is the remedy! Certainly this should not be a partisan affair. The insane hospital is not built for Republicans alone, not for Democrats or Prohibitionists alone, not for Democrats or Prohibitionists alone, not for any one religious sect. In it everybody should find a fair and impartial treatment. Again I ask, what is the remedy? ['Give the the grand bounce,' came a voice in the audience.] Yes, that is just what we intend to do. The men at the head of our public institutions should be men of conscience, men of heart. Not only have men, with qualities far from these, secured these positions, but they bave, by an infamous gerrymander, become so fortified in them that it will require a mighty effort to overcome them. Our only resort is to change the Legislature. I do not charge every Democrat with being in sympathy with the scoundrel-like practices of their party, but they can not avoid the fact that their leaders are the very men who are responsible for them. It is evident to any man, if he is honest and candid, that the gerry mander is a fraud and a burning disgrace upon the people of Indiana. It is not the conduct of a fair business man. But some-how it seems to lose its dishonesty to the other side when brought into politics.

"But there are other questions to be considered in this campaign, and one of them is that of a fair election. We know what that means, for we have had a little experience right here in our own city. I can't see how any fair-minded man can look with any degree of composure upon such violations of the common law. It is my opinion that there are many men of the Demo-eratic party to-day who would not stoop so low as to perpetrate an election fraud, and in their condition they cannot see how any other mem-ber of their party could be guilty of such a crime. But they are guilty, many of them. In our own case, here in the city, there was no difficulty in seeing that fraud had been committed, but it was impossible to point to the guilty man. However, two juries, of which a good percentage were Democrats, succeeded in doing it, and their victims are not participating to any great extent in this campaign. And so it is in one-balf the States of the Union. The present campaign concerns not only this State, but the entire Nation. It involves questions of political economy and of interest to our poster-ity. The tariff issue is of vital importance to every man in this broad country, because either directly or indirectly it settles his weekly wages.

Mr. Miller then made a clear, clean-cut ex-position of the labor question, its connection in this year's canvass and the attitude of General Harrison upon its teachings. He denied the theory that wages are higher in free-trade Engand than they are in America, basing his assertions upon the great influx of European laborers to our shores and a total absence of any great emigration. The only policy for America to adopt, if she values her industries, is to shut her doors against the products of European pauper labor. An example was made of English tailors, who receive 30 cents a day on an average, and the inquiry raised as to how any, save Americans, could vote for his hand-made artifree of taxation. Wool, inmber, poultry, barley-in fact every northern product is wanted on the free list, while sugar, hoop-iron for cotton bales and all Southern products are deemed sufficiently important to be covered with a high tariff. "The greatest proof of Democratic free trade." Mr. Miller said in conclusion, is the friendship between Grover Cleveland and England. England is crying for the American ports to be thrown open to her manufactured articles, simply because the United States is the best market in the world. Only one-tenth of the products consumed in this country are exported. And just as soon as free trade gets a footbold in our fair country, just so soon may you rely upon the destruction of our mar-kets, the reduction of wages and the uprooting of the American home." At the conclusion of Mr. Miller's speech, Jno. J. Smallwood, a colored speaker, of Virginia, was introduced. He spoke from active experience, having been born and raised in the slaveholding South, and in his presentation of the subjects he discussed be exhibited considerable tact and ready wit. He dwelt principally upon the restriction on the negro in the South, and the probable results if his vote was fairly counted. According to his way of putting things, the Democrats in Louisiana have counted the dead and living white men in the State since 1878, and in 1884 reported 80,000 Democratic majority, when in reality there are 40,000 more Republicans than Democrats within its borders. Many cases of this kind were cited. "The Democrats may call this the bloody shirt," he continued, "but I propose to wave it at them. I hold the Democratic party responsible for stirring up sectional strife, and to-day I hold Grover Cleveland responsible for relighting those fires." The speaker, in con-clusion, addressed the colored voters, urging them to vote for General Harrison, not out of gratitude to the Republican party alone, but because he represented the grandest principles set forth by any one candidate in the field to-day. After three rousing cheers for the Republican ticket, the crowd dispersed. Abuse of the Postal Service.

Every indication goes to show that the present Democratic campaign is going to be a desperate one in every respect. That party will not surrender the reins of government until it has exhausted every means at its hand, fair or foul, to maintain its control. One of the evidences of this fact is the use to which the Democracy are putting the mails. That branch of the public service is being utterly prostituted to partisan ends. Postmasters, postal clerks, carriers and everybody else are being drafted into the service of the party. One of the most disgraceful features so far has been the utter violation of the postal laws by the Democratic State Central Committee. The men in charge at its rooms seem to have no regard for the law whatever. Yesterday a mail-package was received at the Republican State committee headquarters, sent in by a leading citizen of Shelby county, which purported to be a newspaper. It was, however, nothing more than a Democratic tariff document which had been put in the form of a paper, so that advantage could be taken of the law allowing publishers to send out their mail at second-class rates. It is a direct violation of postal laws, yet the committee here is sending out thousands of them over the State and saving the money that would otherwise be spent. for other campaign purposes. This is only one of the many ways the committee is resorting to to get campaign material out without cost. Another way is in using franking stamps to put on documents to be sent out under that privilege accorded to a Democratic Senator or Congressman. The law states that this matter of franking shall be done in Washington, under the personal supervision of the Congressman or Senator, as the case may be. The Democratic committee, however, has purchased some rubber stamps, and is putting the frank on thousands of documents daily, in each case violating the postal law. These are only two of the many instances that have come under the observation of men who are watching the matter. Coupling these instances with the case of the postmaster at Biuffton, who deliberately opened Republican papers, going through his office, and inserted Democratic campaign literature, the public can get some idea of the respect the Democrate have for the public service. The matter of sending out campaign literature is, however, not the worst feature of the Democratic work in the postal service. The utter insecurity of letter mail, particularly in Indiana, has caused hundreds of persons, and in particular Republicans, most serious vexation and delay. Out of ninety-two campaign books sent out by Chairman Huston to the various central committeemen in the State, over twenty were never heard from and letters have come making inquiry as to their whereabouts. Such is the insecurity that the committee is now using the express company rather than trust its valuable mail into the hands of the inefficient of the postal service." The Outlook in the East.

Democratic service. Chairman Huston has already had to resort to many means to insure the safe passage of confidential correspondence through the mails and the detection of persons engaged in tampering with it. "Just how long the public will stand this," said he, "I am unable to say. A Republican administration would not dare to do what the Democrats are doing, but a Democratic administration can do anything with impunity. I think a change is needed

Hon. Clem Studebaker, who has been spending some time at Chautauqua, writes: "Occasionally you hear the politics of the country discussed on the hotel verandas, etc. Being interested to know how matters in this line stood in this part of New York, I was naturally led to inquire of a party who had visited the principal town of this, the Thirty-fourth congressional district of New York, consisting of Chauquatus, Cattarangus and Allegheny counties—the strongest Republican district in the State. He stated that never before at this stage of the campaign has the enthusiasm been so great, or the prospective majority so large. The best judges predict the Republican majority in Chautauqua county alone will be from 5,000 to 5,500, and the district majority 10,000 or 11,-

"Jamestown, N. Y., has 3,000 Scandinavians within its borders. Of the 1.200 voters 1,150 are Republicans. Salamanca, N. Y., has 800 voters and a Harrison and Morton club of 400 members, thirty-seven of whom have always been Democrats, one of the thirty-seven being. within two years chairman of the Democratic county committee. Judge A. W. Younger, for the past five years, has resided in Mayville, Chautauqua county. He is a power in local politics, bighly esteemed for his personal worth and services as a speaker and writer. He pre-dicts the success of the Republican party. Hon. Hamilton Ward, ex-Attorney-general of the State, predicts that New York State will give Harrison and Morton 25,000 majority. Hon. W. R. Reynolds, of Peoria, Ill., who is here for a few days, and who is engaged in traveling the length of the country, says that if he was a betting man he would bet on Harrison. West-ern New York and New York, my informant said, will surprise the Nation next November. Harrison and Morton Democrats in this part of the State are so numerous that they jocularly remark. 'You Republicans needn't vote this fall. We Democrate will elect Harrison.' On an excursion from here to Niagara Falls, Saturday, there was a vote taken to see how matters stood politically. There were 110 voters aboard, 82 for Harrison, 14 for Cleveland, 14 for Fisk. Some one proposed to take a vote among the women, thinking it would show a different result. Of the 321 women, 225 were for Harrison, 45 for Cleveland, 51 for Fisk. This, to me, bas quite a significance. The women want their husbands and brothers to vote for the protection of the home and the industries of the country in which they are vitally interested, and to place a man at the head of this Nation whom they can point their sons to and say, 'emiulate him, his life and character is spotless.' This is more to them than party politics."

Speakers for the Campaign. The Republican State central committee is receiving multitudes of applications from all parts of the State and from the country at large from speakers who wants to address the citizens of Indiana on the political issues of the day. There will be no lack for orators, and good ones, too. Of Indiana men ex Governor Porter, Hon. John M. Butler, Col. Robert S. Robertson, Gen. Alvin P. Hovey, Hon. Ira J. Chase, Hon. Will Cumback, Maj. W. H. Calkins and Hon. J. L. Griffith will be in especial demand, and are expected to do a great deal of work. The speeches of Hon. John M. Butler have received unqualified commendation as being masterly and un-answerable statements of Republican principles, and it is probable that there will be a considerably call for him over the State. The campaign will be formally opened some-time between the 2d and 6th of September by ex-Governor Porter, who will speak in this city, at Tomtinson Hail. From that time on he will throw himself into the canvass and work just as hard as if he were the candidate for Governor. The Democrats, who are expecting him to sit silent this year, will be greatly disappointed, as he will give every bit of attention that he can to the campaign. Mr. Huston has also made a request of the national committee for the best speakers that can be had. It is probable that nearly all Republicans of prominence in the country, both in and out of Congress, except, possibly, those who live in the other doubtful States, will be in Indiana. and the campaign, so far as political speaking is concerned, will be a memorable one in the history of the State.

Not as the Organ States It. When the Republicans had their demonstration in Haughville, some of the fellows who always think they are advancing Democratic interests by disturbing meetings of the opposite party, were, according to an arrangement between Democratic leaders, led off to Emrichsville. A person, no doubt one of the crowd who, by the considerate act of those who controlled him on this occasion, was saved from getting into trouble, wrote to the Sentinel that no agreement of that kind existed between the presidents of the Democratic and Republican clubs of Haughville. On this point C. F. Childers, president of the Republican club, said yesterday: "In the morning of the day the rally occurred I mes E. G. Hall, captain of the Democratic club He said that he and Smith Williams, superintendent of the Poor farm, had, after talking over the matter, decided it was best to take their men over to Emrichsville. I asked why that should be done, and he replied that the object was to keep down any trouble. I told him that I thought there would be no trouble, as we had never bothered Democratic meetings. He said, 'That is true. You have never interfered with us when we were having our day, but as many of our men will have money on that day they will get full of whisky and raise h-l.' I still urged him to get the boys to stay, as I had enough confidence in the men to believe they would do right. There was no conference such as that the Sentinel talks about, and the statements of the Journal beretofore made in regard to the matter are true."

Connecticut Up and Doing. T. C. Day, of this city, wrote to Mayor Bulkeley, of Hartford City, congratulating him on his nomination for Governor. In response the following letter came:

T. C. Day: Dear Sir.-Thanks for your early words of congratu-lation on my nomination. The Republicans of Con-necticut are up and doing, and propose to have her right this time on both national and State tickets. If you should have opportunity, say to our candidate for me that nothing will be left undone to give him the electoral vote of Connecticut. Yours truly,

M. G. BULKELEY.

A Consideration for Cheap Laborers. Before Gruelle and Gould were hired by the Democrats to misrepresent workingmen and override the will of a majority by packing meetings with Democratic heelers, they were loud in their denunciations of the cheap Italian laborers who are working in the natural gas trenches. Since their party associates have been bringing these men up to the county clerk's office to have them take out their first citizen papers, Gruelle and Gould have nothing to say about the unemployed Indianapolis laborers. Before the naturalization mill was started they counted thousands of laborers who wanted jobs but were forced into idleness by the Italians. Now they and the cheap imported laborers are pulling together.

A new detachment of Italians, 150 strong, came into the city yesterday, from Cincinnati, to work for Gioney & Co., and to become an object of consideration of the Democratic committees and their bired bands, Gruelle and Gould.

Not Forty Democrats in the Post. Col. R. C. J. Pendleton, commissary-general on Governor Gray's staff, is reported in the Springfield (Mass.) Republican as stating that out of 112 members of the G. A. R. Post, to which he and General Harrison both belong, 40 have signified their intention at a recent meeting of the post to vote for Cleveland. "That is entire false," said Col. I. N. Walker, excommander of the post referred to. "In the first place, our muster roll shows 560 members, and I doubt whether there are 40 Democrats in the whole post. But one thing I am certain of, and that is that there has never been any political subjects discussed at our post meetings. We don't allow it Even if the Colonel's figures were true, which they are not, they could not be ascertained from any post meeting."

What Mr. Mills Says. Mr. N. E. Mills, of Westfield, denies the reported statement of Prof. Estes, of that place, the effect that he, Mills, was satisfied with the local option plank of the Republican party and would vote the Republican ticket. Mr. Mills states that nothing short of national and State prohibition will ever satisfy him, and that he will not vote the Republican ticket

John Baty, forty-nine years of age, was yesterday arrested on the charge of criminally assaulting a young girl named Cotteral. Both parties live at 242 East Washington street. where the young lady lives with her invalid mother. Her father is away from the city the greater part of the time peddling merchandise at State fairs and similar gatherings. It seems, from the girl's story, that Baty has escorted her to campaign parades and the like very frequently. Yesterday, it is claimed, he asked her to accompany him on a walk over the West Side, as he was on the track of a good sitution, and he desired to make inquiries concerning it. The girl, who is ten years of age, consented, and they began their journey on foot, stopping at an Illi nois-street saloon, where they each drank a glass of beer. From here they went acrors the river, and at Howell's saloon they again took beer, although it was against the girl's desire. They then started across the commons toward Bellmont, where Baty said his employer lived. After they had reached a deserted place the young girl says he assaulted her.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

ABSOLUTELY PURE.

For quick raising, the Royal Baking Powder is superior to all other leavening agents. It is absolutely pure and wholesome and of the highest leavening power. It is always uniform in strength and quality and never fails to make light, sweet, most palatable and nutritive food. Bread, biscuits, muffins, cake, etc., raised with Royal Baking Powder may be eaten hot without distressing results to the most delicate digestive organs. It will keep in any climate without deterioration.

Prof. H. A. Mott, U. S. Government Chemist, after examining officially the principal baking powders of the country, reported:

"The Royal Baking Powder is absolutely pure, for I have so found it in many tests made both for that company and the United States Government.

"Because of the facilities that company have for obtaining perfectly pure cream of tartar, and for other reasons dependent upon the proper proportions of the same, and the method of its preparation, the Royal Baking Powder is undoubtedly the purest and most reliable baking powder offered to the public.
